Please click the link above for distance learning tools. Although originally written for the Visual and Media Arts educators, these tools apply to all arts areas. Scroll through the webpage for resources related to establishing infrastructure for distance learning, reinstating personal and relational communication with students, setting up home base, taking care of yourself, and more.

Jeremy Holien, Visual and Media Arts Education Specialist, is available for questions regarding any of these resources via email at Jeremy.holien@pcae.k12.mn.us.
