Representative from every NAEA division and our membership at large have collected, curated, and shared strategies, approaches, lessons, units, and tools to support you as we are faced with the challenges of and opportunities for distance learning and preparing for the 2020-21 school year.

Perpich Center's Visual and Media Arts Specialist, Jeremy Holien, is one of the NAEA's representatives gathering resources to support teachers in the 2020-21 school year. Click on the link above to browse the resources from NAEA's Remote Learning Toolkit. Resources are constantly being updated so we encourage you to check back often.
